

RAMBAM DAY SCHOOL

CHALLENGING ACADEMICS | CORE VALUES | LEADERSHIP

Message From the Principal:

Supportive parents may not only build happier and healthier children, but new research suggests those positive effects may last a lifetime.

"Previous studies have already shown that children who receive high levels of support from their parents report fewer psychological and physical problems. But for the first time, a new study shows that those healthy effects persist throughout adulthood." The results appear in the March issue of the journal Psychology and Aging.

How to be supportive:

Learn together, play together, listen when being spoken to (no phone in hand), ask open questions not yes or no questions, ask specific questions about their school day, compliment often but not to the point you sound insincere, promote positive behavior and good grades with small tokens but meaningful ones, when redirecting - speak using positive words, give hugs generously.

Our children are our most precious investments. Watch over them and do whatever it takes to protect your investment, do whatever it takes to help your investment grow.

2Y

2y centers around hands on learning. The students made drums along with drum sticks, using Reynolds Wrap containers, tissue paper, wooden sticks, and plastic, basketball party favors. They also participated in a mock nature hunt in the classroom from faux nature materials. The students really enjoyed collecting fallen leaves from the carpet by putting them into Ziploc bags to use on their large green leaf art work.

3Y

We love story time. Here are some of our favorites.

Pre-K

The Pre-K gang is transitioning from a theme of feelings into one that focuses on helping others. They are learning a lot about community helpers and thinking about how they can be one by making Green Choices! They each have a special lanyard with their top 5 Green Choice cards hooked on them that they wear in class to stay focused. Sometimes when they are concentrating really hard for science experiments, they pull out their "thinking caps!"

They're learning to spell their names and beginning to write them. For letter O, they are exploring wonders of the ocean!
